

77. (Services) For each Service, please describe the panel pool selection process, to include the Convening Authority's role? Please provide sample templates and/or questionnaires, if not previously provided.

USA	Procedurally, an Army convening authority's staff and subordinate commanders compile a nominee list of eligible panel members for the convening authority's consideration. The staff judge advocate assists the convening authority in disseminating an order throughout the entire command requesting nominations of the best qualified panel members consistent with Article 25, UCMJ. Subordinate commanders then forward their recommendations to the staff judge advocate who is primarily responsible for assembling the nominations along with personnel information (for example officer and enlisted record briefs) regarding the nominees for the convening authority's consideration. The staff judge advocate reviews the nominees and prepares recommendations for the convening authority. The staff judge advocate then advises the convening authority of the requirements of Article 25, UCMJ, and the convening authority personally selects the members of the panel pool. The convening authority personally selects the pool of court-martial panel members applying the requirements in Article 25, UCMJ, although he may consider the recommendations of his staff and subordinate commanders. Panel pool eligibility is guided by Article 25, UCMJ and the Sixth Amendment right to an impartial jury applies in all criminal court-martial prosecutions. Article 25 (d)(1), UCMJ, states that members junior in rank or grade to the accused are ineligible to serve "[w]hen it can be avoided." Subsection (d)(2) further provides that a member is per se ineligible "when he is the accuser or a witness for the prosecution or has acted as investigating officer or as counsel in the same case." The statutes requires that "the convening authority shall detail as members thereof such members ... as, in his opinion, are best qualified for the duty be reason of age, education, training, experience, length of service, and judicial temperament." After the convening authority selects the panel pool, the staff judge advocate memorializes the convening authority's decisions and notifies the panel members in writing. This notification includes instructions such as how to request excusal if necessary. The process continues after the initial panel pool is selected because the Article 25, UCMJ, obligation to personally select is a continuing obligation. Therefore, requests for excusals are processed through the staff judge advocate so that the staff judge advocate can properly advise the convening authority regarding whether the excusal should be granted. Generally in the Army, once detailed, the panel stands over a period of time. Sample templates and questionnaires for the nomination process were previously provided.

Article 25(d)(2), UCMJ outlines what factors should be considered when determining who is “best qualified.” These include age, education, training, experience, length of service, and judicial temperament. Prior to sitting as a member in a court-martial, court members are usually asked to complete a written questionnaire, providing personal and professional information. This questionnaire provides counsel for both sides information about a member’s background that assists them in determining whether there is reason to excuse that particular member from sitting on the court. Once detailed to sit on a court-martial, a member must avoid allowing others to speak about upcoming cases in that member’s presence. Court members are required to be impartial. Having prior knowledge of the facts of a case may impact a member’s ability to remain impartial. Although the convening authority may excuse members prior to assembly for any reason, requests to be excused from court member duty should be based on good cause. After the court-martial is assembled, the convening authority can no longer excuse members unless the member has good cause. After assembly, court members are normally only excused as a result of being challenged by either trial or defense counsel, or after being released by the military judge for good cause.
USN	Eligible service members are required to complete a questionnaire related to Article 25, UCMJ criteria, including age, education, training, length of service and judicial temperament. Convening Authorities, with the assistance of their staff judge advocates, select potential members based on those questionnaires and the convening authority’s consideration of those matters. Members are selected and listed on the convening order at the convening authority’s discretion. In the Navy, when a region commander is the convening authority, because their direct staff is usually not large enough to provide un-conflicted members, the commander will solicit questionnaires from installations and operational commands in the region to meet the courts-martial needs. Likewise, in Special Court-Martial cases, convening authorities work with other local commands to meet enlisted member requirements (enlisted members cannot be from the same command as the accused) of Article 25, UCMJ. A sample questionnaire is attached.
USMC	A military accused has no Sixth Amendment right to a trial by petit jury. Ex Parte Quirin, 317 U.S. 1, 39-40 (1942) (dicta). The Sixth Amendment requirement that the jury be impartial applies to court-martial members and covers not only the selection of individual jurors, but also their conduct during the trial proceedings and the subsequent deliberations. United States v. 	those persons who in the opinion of the convening authority are best qualified for the duty by reason of their age, education, training, experience, length of experience, length of service, and judicial temperament.” In practice, each convening authority has a standing convening order, on which he or she lists potential court-martial members that he or she selected based on the criteria in R.C.M. 502. Once charges for a court-martial are referred and the government is preparing to go to trial, the convening authority will modify the convening order to list additional Marines who are available to sit as members for that particular court-martial. These members in the modified convening order are also vetted through the R.C.M 502 criteria. Once the convening authority identifies the pool of potential members for the court-martial, they are required to fill out members’ questionnaires. Copies of the members’ questionnaires from the Eastern and Western Judicial Circuit are appended to this response. Additionally, both trial and defense counsel may move the court to allow them to submit additional questions to the members. Prior to trial, the members are subject to voir dire by the military judge, trial counsel, and defense counsel. After voir dire, the members are empaneled.
USCG	The process for selecting the panel members for a court-martial is governed by Article 25, UCMJ, and Rules for Court-Martial (R.C.M.) 503-505. Under Article 25, the Convening Authority must detail as members those individuals who, in his/her opinion, are the best qualified to serve based on age, education, training, experience, length of service, and judicial temperament. Due to the relatively small number of Coast Guard courts-martial, each unit does not typically have a standing court-martial panel. Instead, the Convening Authority establishes the court- martial panel when needed through a Convening Order. In order to issue the Convening Order, the Administrative Officer for the Convening Authority requests a list from Personnel Service Center (PSC), the Coast Guard’s personnel command, roughly equivalent to Navy Bureau of Personnel, of all eligible members. Eligibility is determined by rank, unit, and location. PSC will eliminate all members junior to the accused in rank because, under Article 25, panel members should be equal or senior in rank to the accused when possible. PSC will also eliminate those members who are not located in the general vicinity of the court-martial, to minimize travel requirements. Lastly, PSC will eliminate any enlisted member (in a case in which enlisted representation is requested) who serves in the accused’s unit, as required by Article 25(c)(1). For each eligible member, PSC includes information to help inform the Convening Authority’s choice of members, including rank, age, time in service, education level, current unit, and description of current duties. The Administrative Officer provides the list to the Convening Authority along with legal instructions by the Staff Judge Advocate that state the criteria he or she must use

The SJA may meet with the Convening Authority to further discuss the process and answer any legal questions that the Convening Authority has about the selection process. The SJA may also return to the Convening Authority to request that he/she select additional members if the original members request excusal due to operational or personal requirements. SUBJECT: Selection of Special and General Court-Martial Members — ACTION
MEMORANDUM

f. At TAB B is a list of officers nominated for court-martial duty by their Special Court-Martial Convening Authorities. All available Officer Record Briefs (ORBs) for each officer nominee are at TAB D.

g. At TAB C is a list of enlisted members nominated for court-martial duty by their Special Court-Martial Convening Authorities. All available Enlisted Record Briefs (ERBs) for each enlisted nominee are at TAB D.

h. When an accused requests trial by a court-martial with enlisted members, a sufficient number of enlisted personnel must be detailed to the court to ensure that, after challenges are exercised, at least one-third of the remaining members are enlisted personnel.

3. Recommendations.

a. That you select a total of ten officers and five enlisted personnel from TABs B and C, to serve as both the General Court-Martial and Special Court-Martial panel as follows:

(1) Initial before the names of ten officers to serve as primary court-martial members on the panel.

(2) Initial before the names of five enlisted personnel to serve as primary court-martial members on the panel when enlisted personnel are requested by the accused. Place an "E" by the names of the five officers you determine should be replaced by the enlisted personnel. In the event one of these officers has been previously excused and an alternate has been designated to replace this officer, the alternate will be excused for that trial only.

b. That you select 15/20/25 officers and 15/20/25 enlisted members to serve as alternates for the panel. Designate your alternate selections by placing numbers one through 15/20/25 next to each officer and one through 15/20/25 next to each enlisted selection to signify the order in which you wish them to serve.

c. That alternate court members be automatically detailed to the panels in accordance with the following procedures:

(1) When primary members are excused before assembly of the panel, alternate members will automatically be detailed in the order indicated by your selection. Each excused officer member will be automatically replaced by an alternate officer member in the order in which they are listed on the selection documents (i.e., in their respective numeric sequence, 1, 2, 3, etc.). Likewise, each enlisted member is automatically replaced by an alternate enlisted member in the order in which they are listed on the selection documents (i.e., in their respective numeric sequence, 1, 2, 3, etc.).

(2) When, after assembly, the membership of a panel falls below the minimum statutory membership requirement, excused officers and/or enlisted members will be replaced by alternates using the following procedures. If the composition of an enlisted panel falls below the one-third enlisted statutory requirement, the number of alternate enlisted members necessary to raise the composition to one-third enlisted plus two additional members will be detailed. If the number of members of an enlisted panel falls below quorum and the one-third enlisted composition is satisfied, then the number of officer members necessary to raise the total number of members up to two over quorum will be detailed. If detailing these officers causes the composition to fall below one-third enlisted (including the newly detailed officers), then the number of alternate enlisted members necessary to raise the composition to one-third enlisted plus two additional enlisted members will be detailed at the same time that the alternate officers are detailed.

d. That the following members and alternate members be automatically excused without any further action by the convening authority:

(1) Individuals who are deployed or on TDY outside of {{GCMCALocation}} on the date of trial;

(2) Individuals who are within fifteen days of their date of loss due to ETS, PCS, or retirement on the date of trial;

(3) Individuals who are in the hospital or on quarters on the date of trial;

(4) Individuals who, on the date of trial, are on leave (i.e., ordinary, convalescent, terminal, and/or emergency) or pass that was approved prior to notification of trial;

(5) Individuals who are junior in grade to the accused;

(6) Individuals from the same [company] [battalion]-sized element as the accused;

(7) Commanders or investigators who forwarded or investigated any of the charges in accordance with R.C.M. 401-405.

e. That you delegate authority to the {{GCMCALocation}} Staff Judge Advocate to excuse, before assembly, no more than one-third of the primary members detailed for any one court-martial in accordance with R.C.M. 505(c)(1)(B)(i). Panel members excused by the Staff Judge Advocate will not be replaced in accordance with 3(c) above which applies to automatic excusals, individual excusals granted by the convening authority, or excusals as a result of challenges.

{[GCMCACmdrOfficeSymbol]}

SUBJECT: Selection of Court-Martial Panel Members

Please place an asterisk by five of the ten officers' names to indicate whom you wish to automatically excuse when the accused requests an enlisted panel. I recommend that these five officers become your first pool of alternates for an enlisted general court-martial panel should any of the five remaining detailed officers be excused. I recommend that you select five enlisted members for the general court-martial panels by marking "O1" through "O5" by the enlisted member's name in the column marked "Court-Martial." These five enlisted members will automatically replace the five automatically excused officers for the general court-martial panel when an accused requests an enlisted general court-martial panel.

c. For the special courts-martial panel, I recommend that you select ten officers by marking "S1" through "S10" beside the officer's name in the column marked "Court-Martial." Please place an asterisk by five of the ten officers' names to indicate whom you wish to be automatically excused when the accused requests an enlisted panel. I recommend that these five officers become your first pool of alternates for an enlisted special court-martial panel should any of the five remaining detailed officers be excused. I recommend that you select five enlisted members for the special court-martial panel by marking "S1" through "S5" by the enlisted member's name in the column marked "Court-Martial." These five enlisted members will automatically replace the five automatically excused officers for the special court-martial panel when an accused requests an enlisted special court-martial panel.

4. Automatic Replacement Procedures for Temporarily Excused Panel Members Prior to Assembly.

a. When members are temporarily excused prior to assembly, I recommend that alternate members be automatically detailed to replace the temporarily excused members IAW the procedures set forth in Army Regulation (AR) 220-45, Duty Rosters (hereinafter DA 6 procedures). I recommend that you have an officer roster and an enlisted roster for the alternates you select for these panels. For each list of officer and enlisted alternates, the order in which each alternate you select is the order in which the names will be placed on the respective alternate list, with AI being the first name on the list and the following alternates being placed on the corresponding list in numerical order. Unless otherwise specified, the officer and enlisted alternate lists will be run IAW the DA 6 procedures detailed in AR 220-45. I recommend that only officers replace excused officer members and that only enlisted Soldiers replace excused enlisted members.

b. Officer panel cases. When a primary member is temporarily excused before court is assembled in officer panel cases, that primary member will be replaced IAW the procedures listed in paragraph 4a.

SUBJECT: Selection of Court-Martial Panel Members

c. Enlisted panel cases: When a primary member is excused before court is assembled in enlisted panel cases, the following additional steps will occur in addition to the replacement procedures referenced in paragraph 4a.:

(1) When a primary officer member is temporarily excused before court is assembled in an enlisted panel case, that primary member will be replaced for the period of time the primary member is excused by the most senior officer from the officer panel that was automatically excused for the corresponding enlisted panel (the automatically excused officers from the officer general court-martial panel for the enlisted general court-martial panel and the automatically excused officers from the officer special court-martial panel for the enlisted special court-martial panel). If all five automatically excused officers from the corresponding officer panel are unavailable, due to previously granted excusals, to replace a primary member for the period of time the primary member is excused, then the replacement procedures referenced in paragraph 4a will be followed.

(2) When a primary enlisted member is temporarily excused, the primary enlisted member will be replaced for the period of time the primary enlisted member is excused IAW the replacement procedures for listed in paragraph 4a.

5. Automatic Replacement Procedures for Permanently Excused Panel Members Prior to Assembly.

a. Upon the permanent excusal of a primary member prior to assembly, I recommend that the permanently excused member be permanently replaced by a member from the respective alternate list. I recommend that upon the permanent excusal of a primary member, the most senior member of the same rank by date of rank, remaining on the alternate list, replace the permanently excused member. If there is not an alternate member of the same rank available, then the permanently excused member shall be replaced with the most senior alternate member of the next junior rank from the alternate list.

b. The next junior rank is defined as the next junior rank on the list even if that person is junior by more than one pay grade. If two alternate members have the same date of rank, then the member who will replace the permanently excused member will be the member whose original placement order on the alternate list is closest to AI. For the purposes of these replacement procedures, First Sergeants and Master Sergeants will be considered of the same rank. Command Sergeants Major and Sergeants Major will also be considered to be of the same rank.

c. In cases where an alternate is replacing a permanently excused primary member, the alternate will be permanently removed from the alternate list, and will be permanently placed on the respective panel.

6. Automatic Replacement Procedures after Assembly.

SUBJECT: Selection of Court-Martial Panel Members

a. If, in officer panel cases, the number of members of the panel falls below quorum as set forth in R.C.M. 805 (five for a general court-martial; three for a special court-martial), five additional officer members will automatically be detailed to the panel using the provisions set forth in paragraph 4a.

b. If, in enlisted panel cases, the panel has less than the one-third enlisted members necessary to meet quorum, three additional alternate enlisted members will automatically be detailed to the panel using the provisions set forth in paragraph 4a.

c. If, in enlisted panel cases, the number of members falls below quorum, but the one-third enlisted composition is satisfied, then three additional officer members will automatically be detailed using the provisions set forth in paragraph 4a. If detailing these three officers causes the composition to fall below one-third enlisted members (including the newly detailed officers), then two additional enlisted members will automatically be detailed at the same time that the alternate officers are detailed using the provisions set forth in paragraph 4a.

b. I recommend that you automatically excuse a member for particular cases in which the following circumstances apply:

(1) when a member is a witness in the case before the court;

(2) when a member was the accuser, a signatory on a transmittal memorandum forwarding the case for trial, or made recommendations on forwarding the case for trial;

(3) when a member conducted the Article 32 investigation of the case;

(4) when a member is junior in rank to the accused in the case; and,

(5) when an enlisted member is in the same company-level unit as the accused.

8. I recommend that you direct these panels be detailed on DATE as follows:

I recommend that these five officers become your first pool of alternates for an enlisted special court-martial panel should any of the five remaining detailed officers be excused. I recommend that you select five enlisted members for the special court-martial panel by marking "S1" through "S5" by the enlisted member's name in the column marked "Court-Martial." These five enlisted members will automatically replace the five automatically excused officers for the special court-martial panel when an accused requests an enlisted special court-martial panel.

d. I recommend that you select 15/20/25 officers to serve as alternates on either the general or special court-martial panels by marking "AI" through "A15/20/25" beside the officer's name in the column marked "Court-Martial." In addition, I recommend that you select 30 enlisted members to serve as alternates on either the general or special court-martial panels by marking "BI" through "B30" beside the enlisted member's name in the column marked "Court-Martial." I recommend that no member serve as a primary member on more than one panel. Also, I recommend that no member selected as a primary member be selected as an alternate.

4. Automatic Replacement Procedures for Temporarily Excused Panel Members Prior to Assembly.

a. When members are temporarily excused prior to assembly, I recommend that alternate members be automatically detailed to replace the temporarily excused members IAW the procedures set forth in Army Regulation (AR) 220-45, Duty Rosters (hereinafter DA 6 procedures). I recommend that you have an officer roster and an enlisted roster for the alternates you select for these panels. For each list of officer and enlisted alternates, the order in which each alternate you select is the order in which the names will be placed on the respective alternate list, with AI being the first name on the list and the following alternates being placed on the corresponding list in numerical order. Unless otherwise specified, the officer and enlisted alternate lists will be run IAW the DA 6 procedures detailed in AR 220-45. I recommend that only officers replace excused officer members and that only enlisted Soldiers replace excused enlisted members.

b. Officer panel cases. When a primary member is temporarily excused before court is assembled in officer panel cases, that primary member will be replaced IAW the procedures listed in paragraph 4a.

SUBJECT: Selection of Court-Martial Panel Members

c. Enlisted panel cases: When a primary member is excused before court is assembled in enlisted panel cases, the following additional steps will occur in addition to the replacement procedures referenced in paragraph 4a.:

(1) When a primary officer member is temporarily excused before court is assembled in an enlisted panel case, that primary member will be replaced for the period of time the primary member is excused by the most senior officer from the officer panel that was automatically excused for the corresponding enlisted panel (the automatically excused officers from the officer general court-martial panel for the enlisted general court-martial panel and the automatically excused officers from the officer special court-martial panel for the enlisted special court-martial panel). If all five automatically excused officers from the corresponding officer panel are unavailable, due to previously granted excusals, to replace a primary member for the period of time the primary member is excused, then the replacement procedures referenced in paragraph 4a will be followed.

(2) When a primary enlisted member is temporarily excused, the primary enlisted member will be replaced for the period of time the primary enlisted member is excused IAW the replacement procedures for listed in paragraph 4a.

5. Automatic Replacement Procedures for Permanently Excused Panel Members Prior to Assembly.

a. Upon the permanent excusal of a primary member prior to assembly, I recommend that the permanently excused member be permanently replaced by a member from the respective alternate list. I recommend that upon the permanent excusal of a primary member, the most senior member of the same rank by date of rank, remaining on the alternate list, replace the permanently excused member. If there is not an alternate member of the same rank available, then the permanently excused member shall be replaced with the most senior alternate member of the next junior rank from the alternate list.

b. The next junior rank is defined as the next junior rank on the list even if that person is junior by more than one pay grade. If two alternate members have the same date of rank, then the member who will replace the permanently excused member will be the member whose original placement order on the alternate list is closest to AI. For the purposes of these replacement procedures, First Sergeants and Master Sergeants will be considered of the same rank. Command Sergeants Major and Sergeants Major will also be considered to be of the same rank.

c. In cases where an alternate is replacing a permanently excused primary member, the alternate will be permanently removed from the alternate list, and will be permanently placed on the respective panel.

6. Automatic Replacement Procedures after Assembly.

SUBJECT: Selection of Court-Martial Panel Members

a. If, in officer panel cases, the number of members of the panel falls below quorum as set forth in R.C.M. 805 (five for a general court-martial; three for a special court-martial), five additional officer members will automatically be detailed to the panel using the provisions set forth in paragraph 4a.

b. If, in enlisted panel cases, the panel has less than the one-third enlisted members necessary to meet quorum, three additional alternate enlisted members will automatically be detailed to the panel using the provisions set forth in paragraph 4a.

c. If, in enlisted panel cases, the number of members falls below quorum, but the one-third enlisted composition is satisfied, then three additional officer members will automatically be detailed using the provisions set forth in paragraph 4a. If detailing these three officers causes the composition to fall below one-third enlisted members (including the newly detailed officers), then two additional enlisted members will automatically be detailed at the same time that the alternate officers are detailed using the provisions set forth in paragraph 4a.

7. Panel Member Excusals.

a. I recommend that you delegate to the SJA, {{GCMCALocation}}, or Acting SJA in the SJA's absence, the authority to excuse individual members from a court-martial without cause shown pursuant to R.C.M. 505(c)(1)(B) (TAB Delegation). This authority shall be limited so that no more than one-third of the total members detailed to a particular court-martial may be excused by the SJA or Acting SJA in the SJA's absence.

b. I recommend that you automatically excuse a member for particular cases in which the following circumstances apply:

(1) when a member is a witness in the case before the court;

(2) when a member was the accuser, a signatory on a transmittal memorandum forwarding the case for trial, or made recommendations on forwarding the case for trial;

(3) when a member conducted the Article 32 investigation of the case;

(4) when a member is junior in rank to the accused in the case; and,

(5) when an enlisted member is in the same company-level unit as the accused.

8. I recommend that you direct these panels be detailed on DATE as follows:

a. The special court-martial panel you select today will try all cases already referred for trial by Court-Martial Convening Order (CMCO) #, dated DATE, or CMCOs that preceded CMCO #, where court is not yet assembled.

b. The general court-martial panel you select today will try all cases already referred for trial by CMCO #, Corrected Copy, dated DATE, or CMCOs that preceded CMCO #, Corrected Copy, where court is not yet assembled.

c. Direct that all cases referred to a general court-martial or to a special court-martial on or after DATE be brought to trial before the respective courts-martial hereby convened.

d. The alternates selected today will replace temporary and permanently excused members for both the special and general courts-martial panels.

e. That these panels serve until you or your success or select new panels.

9. I recommend that you sign a Memorandum of Instruction to the selected court members. This memorandum is attached at TAB E for your signature.

GENERAL INFORMATION FOR PROSPECTIVE COURT-MARTIAL MEMBERS

Having been selected as a prospective court-martial member by the convening authority, you have been called upon to perform one of the most important duties required of an active duty member of the Coast Guard, that of administering military justice. In an attempt to better prepare you as a prospective court-martial member, the following is presented for your information.

The convening order that appointed you as a prospective court-martial member may be used for one or more courts-martial and you may have to sit as a court-martial member in each of them. Therefore, it is extremely important that you refrain from any conversation regarding alleged violations of the Uniform Code of Military Justice. If anyone begins to tell you about such a violation, cut them off and advise them you cannot discuss the case as you may be a court-martial member.

Your selection as a prospective court-martial member is just that; you are still subject to questioning by the military judge and counsel for both the government and the defense before becoming a member of a particular court-martial. This questioning is known as voir dire and is specifically authorized by law. The purpose of this questioning is to determine whether or not you will sit as a trier of fact and the potential assessor of punishment. The questions that will likely be asked you at trial are not designed to embarrass you, but rather to discover such factors as whether you have any knowledge of the case, any preconceived opinions that you cannot lay aside, or if you have any experience in your personal life that might cause you to be biased in favor of either the prosecution or defense in the case. The court-martial member questionnaire that has been enclosed with this information sheet, which provides preliminary answers for the military judge and counsel, is not intended to be all inclusive but rather addresses certain recurring issues.

Being a prospective court-martial member requires no preparation at all prior to trial. In fact, it is very important that you avoid any preparation. At trial, the military judge will instruct you that he will inform you what the law is in the case and the procedures that you must follow. In this regard, the military judge is the only source of the law and you will be required to follow the law as it is given to you by him, even though you may have some different recollection of what the law is with regard to a particular issue. It is not permissible for you to refer to, examine, or even consult the Manual for Courts-Martial, or any other publication, directive, or writing to acquire independent knowledge of those matters to be dealt with at trial.

In short you should scrupulously avoid any contact that in any way deals with issues of military justice that you may be called upon to decide.

Finally, you should be aware that courts-martial routinely extend beyond normal working hours, and may even include weekends. Personnel should make transportation and child care arrangements in advance of trial.
